PILE! PILE! PILE!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr.
William, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions instruments and electricures do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, relieves the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. William's Pile Ointment:
I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

ceipt of price, $1.

Skin Diseases Cured

BY DR. FRAZIER'S MAGIC OINTMENT. Cure
as if by magic, pimples, black head or grubs, blotches and eruptions on the face, leaving the skin clear, healthy and beautiful. Also cures itch, barber's itch, salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, scald head, chapped hands, sore nipples, sore
lips, old obstinate ulcers and sores, &c.

SKIN DISEASE.

F. Drake, Esq., Cleveland, O., suffered beyond all description from a skin disease which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed he used Dr. Frazier's Magic Ointment and was cured by a few applications.

The first and positive cure for skin diseases
ever discovered.

For blind, bleeding, itching or ulcerated piles,
Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is a sure cure. Price $1, by mail. For sale by George T.
Wood, druggist.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular,
make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, serofulous
humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

THE OLD FARM.

Out in the meadows the farm house lies,
Old and gray, and fronting the west;
Many a swallow thither flies,
Twittering under the evening skies.

In the old chimneys builds her nest.

Ah! how the sounds make our old hearts swell!

Send them again on an eager quest;

Bid the sweet winds of heaven tell

Those we have loved so long and well

Come again home to the dear old nest.

When the gray evening, cool and still,

Hushes the brain and heart to rest,

Memory comes with a joyous thrill,

Brings the young children back at will,

Call them all home to the gray old nest.

Patient we wait 'till the golden morn

Rise on our weariness but confessed;

Till, with the child and the darkness gone,

Hope shall arise with another dawn,

And a new day to the sad old nest.

Soon shall we see all the eager host

Bright with the Day-tar, at Heaven's behest;

Soon, from the bondage of clay released,

Rise to the Pearce, the King's own feast,

Birds of flight from the last year's nest.

Plants That Eat Animals.

We have all heard of animals that eat plants, but only recently have we learned of plants that live on animals. By recently I mean within the last twenty years. That these queer plants do really devour very small insects is now an established fact of history.

In 1860 Mr. Darwin, a man who studied these wonderful things, and then very kindly published books about what he learned, so that other people may also study them, began to notice some curious things about these singular plants, and then turned his attention to a study of them. He spent a great many hours watching the plants and their behavior. Day after day he would continue, till finally he had the pleasure of knowing so much about the subject that he put it in a book.

Many other naturalists have been studying these curious plants, both before and since the publication of Mr.
Darwin's book. In New Jersey, North Carolina, and other States, as well as in England, these plants are to be found.
There are several varieties of them, but I have room in this article to give you an account of them in only a general manner,
and very briefly at that.

The leaves of these plants form a kind of mouth, and this mouth the plants can open when they choose. The leaves are the lids, and inside the mouth is a sort of throat. The throat extends downward toward the body of the plant, and has inside a great many little bits of very short beard, which are close together and very fuzzy. In some throats are at least two hundred of these little hairy bits. At the end of each of these is a sticky substance somewhat like common mucilage.

Now, when the plant opens its mouth you see the trap is already set. All he has to do is to keep his mouth open. By an accident a fly alights on the plant—or a bug, or some other small insect—and the moment it does so it sticks fast to the gummy substance the plant is all the time making, and is caught. Fly off he can not, and the more he tries to move
the more he fastens himself to the sticky substance. The plant is now sure of a meal, for the moment a fly, a bug, or other substance touches the throat the mouth of the plant begins to shut, the leaves, or lips, immediately close over the victim and strangle him to death.

Then the plant eats the insect very much as you eat a bit of meat. The way you and I eat, is this: We swallow the food, and the stomach digests it for us by means of what we call gastric juice. The gastric juice is a sour and bitter liquid, which cuts the food we have swallowed up and makes pulp of it.
Then the glands of our stomach absorb,
or drink up this fluid, and it goes into the blood and gives us health and strength.

In the same way Mr. Plant eats the fly or bug. A sort of sour and bitter juice starts from the leaves on the inside and cuts the bug into pieces, and then into a sort of jelly; and after this the glands,

of which the plant is very full, suck this jelly or liquid up and carry it all over the plant, and give life and strength and vigor to all its parts.

As soon as one insect is eaten in this way, the leaves open again and the trap is set for another. How many an enterprising plant, of average industry, will catch and devour in a day I do not exactly know. I suppose it depends upon the number of them in the air.

The plants are not over particular about their diet, and will take beef, an egg, gelatine, and many other things of that nature. At the same time, they have some choice about their food, and will not eat grass, starch, oil, or anything that is too fatty. A gum tickles their palate, as turtle does the tongue of an epicure; and as for a dainty, tender bitterly, why it is said that you could not please the plant better than by feeding one to it.

So delicately is the plant made, and so sensitive are the hundreds of bristles that line its throat, that a piece of human hair, one-eight-thousandth part of an inch long, dropped on the plant, will cause it to close immediately.—Hall's Journal of Health.

A Peculiar View of the Question.

It is refreshing to hear of a genuine conversation, if it be from darkness to light, especially when it is speedy and complete. A few years ago a friend of mine was taking a country walk with a clergyman, when the latter suddenly wheeled round his face toward home, with the remark: "Let us go back, I'm tired; was called up in the middle of the night to baptize a child
that was dying."

"Were you in time?" asked my friend.

"Just," was the reply; "another half minute and I should have been too late."

"And if you had been, what then?"

"Why, then, I suppose the poor little thing would have been lost."

"Eternally?"

"Well, yes, according to our belief."

"May I ask what sort of looks you wear?" said my friend.

"Boots? Elastic-side, always."

"Now, suppose you wore laced, and they had taken two minutes to put on,
the child would have been dead, and—
lost eternally, ay?"

"That's a peculiar view of the question; and I must think over my position."

Two days after the clergyman met my friend and said: "I have thought that matter over and must alter my view.
The boots did it."—London Spectator.

Sun Dogs.

A parhelion is an attendant image,
more or less distinct, of the sun's disk,
which may appear with any halo at one,
two, or more points near the sun, but which is more frequently formed in the course of the horizontal or vertical white bands, or in both, at or slightly without the intersection of these with the ordinary halos. They seldom appear at once at more than three or four of the intersection, and sometimes present a sort of tail in the direction opposite the luminous. They are popularly known as sun dogs or mock suns.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

WEDNESDAY EVE., JUNE 7, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MARYSVILLE.

JAMES G. BLAINE has formally declined a nomination for congressman at large in Maine.

THE Carlisle Mercury was sold last week to John I. Fisher, and A. T. Webster, who will take charge next week.

NICHOLAS county instructed for Hon. Richard Reed, of Montgomery county, for Judge of the Superior court for this district.

MR. LYNCH, Mississippi's colored Representative, offered in the House, Monday, a bill authorizing the construction of a railroad from Memphis to New Orleans along the top of the levees.

GUITEAU's application for a rehearing of his motion for a new trial has been denied by the district court. Mr. Reed, Guiteau's attorney, has announced that he will make still another effort to save the assassin's neck.

THE bogus bonds made from plates obtained by counterfeiters from the treasury department are $1,000 bonds of the issue of 1861, bearing 6 per cent. interest. The amount claimed to be surreptitiously issued aggregates $22,000,000.

AMONG the items in the general deficiency bill reported to the House by the committee on appropriations last Friday is $67,674 to be refunded to the state of Ohio for expenses incurred in the raising of volunteers during the late war; also, to the state of Kentucky, $36,211.81 for similar expenses.

THE Republicans having unseated Chalmers, of Mississippi; Dibble, of South Carolina; Finley of Florida, and Wheeler, of Alabama, now have the needed majority in the House to enable them to take a pluck at the surplus $150,000,000 now in the treasury, and it is very certain they will not be slow in doing it.

ACCOUNTS from Pittsburgh and other cities state that the striking workmen continue to conduct themselves in an orderly manner. At Milwaukee (Wis.) a lot of iron workers who were receiving more than the average wages made common cause with the strikers, to the great annoyance of their employers. The indications at Pittsburgh appear to warrant the conclusion that the manufacturers are wavering.

Superior Court Judgeship.

Democrats of the several counties of this (the Third) Judicial district held meetings last Saturday to appoint delegates to the convention, to meet at Lexington on the 14th inst., to nominate a candidate for Judge of the new Superior Court. So far as heard from the counties have instructed with the following result:

There are 45 counties in the district, having an aggregate vote in the convention of 248—necessary to a choice, 125.

Returns yet to come in will probably give the nomination to Judge Reid.

SAYS the Bourbon News :

Have you, or have you not bought the Carlisle Mercury office? queried the News of Green R. Keller Monday morning. "One of the editors of the Mercury priced me the office for $2,500, and I told him in the presence of witnesses that I would take it, but now since Will Kehoe has arrived at Carlisle from New Orleans the price has been sprung to $2,600, and I'm not going to give it, but will contend by law, if necessary, that I bought the office at their price, and will have it at that or not at all," said he.

FROM Washington there comes a cue,

That certain triggers nicely set,
Are badly out of joint,
And that the road to power and place,
By obstacles is hemmed,
And mighty rocky is the path
Of him who gets P. M-ed.

JUDGE JAMES HARBESON, a popular candidate for congress in this district, was in Maysville, Tuesday.

W. S. FRANK has sold the dwelling on Limestone street, lately occupied by Arthur Berry, to W. Fitzgerald for $1,600.

THE jail committee will meet at Judge Wall's office to-morrow morning to receive from Mr. E. J. Hodgson, the architect, the plans and specifications for the new jail.

THE members of the Emmet Guards are notified that there will be a meeting at the armory next Thursday evening, at which it is desired there shall be a full attendance.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Courier-Journal alleges that certain democrats in Maysville have been writing to the democrats in congress urging them to vote for the confirmation of Mr. Hutchins as postmaster of this city. Who are they?

THE Children's Day service will be observed at the Third street M. E. Church, June 11th, at 10½ o'clock a. m. The church will be handsomely decorated and the service will be interesting throughout. A cordial invitation is extended to everybody to be present.

MR. HARRY WENSELL, a barber of experience, has opened a shop in East Maysville, next door to George Means' grocery, and is prepared to serve the public in an acceptable manner. We take pleasure in recommending him to the favors of our friends in that end of the town.

MISS LIZZIE PIKE, daughter of Mr. W. W. Pike, formerly of this city, will be married at Cincinnati on Thursday June 8, to Mr. Charles Speigle. The wedding is to be private and no cards have been issued. The Maysville friends of the contracting parties extend their congratulations.

THE new colored M. E. Church, at Washington, will be finished on the 13th inst., and will be opened on Sunday, the 18th inst., with a basket meeting. Sermons will be preached by Revs. J. Sissel, of Sharpsburg, J. Courtney, of Maysville, and J. Bourne, of Mayslick. Everybody is invited to be present.

THE stocksales at Paris, Monday, were considerably better than on any court day previous for many months. Good fat cattle averaged from 5½ to 6½ cents per pound; broke mules from $125 to $150 each. Plug horses, as usual, varied from $30 to $90. About $8,000 worth of land changed hands. A large crowd was in attendance, and brisk sales were the order of the day.

Calls.

SARDIS, Ky., June 6, 1882.

Judge Phister having declined to make a race for a third term in Congress, the friends of Hon. Garrett S. Wall, in the Sardis Precinct, want him to try for it—to make a canvass for the nomination.

Having been faithful and impartial in the duties of his office, courteous and polite to all persons having business in his office—having been true and tried—our invitation is for him to come up higher.

Appreciating the fact that he has always served faithfully in every public trust, and is eminently fitted to represent this district in congress, we hereby promise our cheerful support in every honorable way to secure his nomination before the district convention, should he allow his name to be used as indicated:

A Much Persecuted Man.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial persists in vilifying a well known gentleman of this city, through the columns of that paper. The following vile slander is his latest. He ought to be squelched:

Morris Hutchins, of Maysville, the newly appointed, but not yet confirmed Postmaster, is here among the Stalwarts, sporting his title to the brass potlid that all wear with so much pride. He is said to have a rocky road before him in the Senate, with citizens of all shades arrayed against him and in favor of Stockton, who now holds the office. Hutchins got the appointment by a cunning adaptation of endorsements for another place much farther from home. If Hutchins persists startling developments are promised.

The correspondent of the Courier-Journal is equally unjust. Here is what he says:

Morris Hutchins, of Maysville, Ky., who secured his appointment as Postmaster by getting his fellow-citizens to sign petitions to secure for him a far-away Consulship, is here working in an up-hill way to secure confirmation. He went in at first on his superior statesmanship, and said that nobody but Democrats opposed him, but now he has his friends writing letters from Kentucky to Democrats here to vote for his confirmation. There are many letters from Maysville urging his rejection, and his coming was hastened by the fear of a withdrawal of his name. If it is not withdrawn, there is likely to be some disclosures which will be unpleasant for Mr. Hutchins, and still more unpleasant for those here who are wriggling and twisting to remove the apparently fatal opposition that has shown itself in a strong fight in the Senate Committee on Post-offices and Post roads. Propositions have been made that would certainly make one plios statesman blush were they disclosed. Nearly all Maysville, including Hutchins himself, signed a petition to have Stockton, the present Postmaster, retained. The friends of Stockton think if the Senate Committee, or even the Senate itself over the head of the committee, can go on and confirm this highly Stalwart appointee, after the information concerning him in possession of members of the Committee, can swallow almost anything in the shape of an alleged Stalwart.

There is some indication of an early adjustment of the troubles among the iron mills at Cincinnati.

Calls.

Mr. SAMUEL CHUNN has returned from the west and will resume business in Maysville as a carpenter and builder. His shop is on Third street between Wall and Sutton.

Mr. F. S. ANDREWS, a relative of Mr. M. C. Russell, residing at West Jefferson, Ohio, will shortly take charge of one of the leading hotels in the central part of that state.

In the Mayors Court, this morning, Mr. W. C. Pennywitt, editor of the Republican, was fined $10 for a breach of the peace in assaulting Mr. Charles White, of East Maysville. Mr. Pennywitt is a tenant of Mr. White's, and the unfortunate affair grew out of one of the petty differences that sometimes disturb the peace of near neighbors.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. Thomas R. James and lady, and Mr. Thomas D. Metcalfe, with his sister Miss Sallie, left Monday evening on the steamer Bonanza for the South, intending to spend some days on the Gulf, near Last Island.

MESSRS. YAGO & BEASLEY, the well-known carriage manufacturers, we are pleased to learn, are doing a larger business than usual this season. They have recently finished two very handsome buggies for Grant Allen and James Carpenter, of Millersburg, a buggy and skeleton wagon for Thurman Pollock, of Germantown, two buggies for Dr. Norris, of Germantown, and Dr. Holton, of this city. This work was done in the best style and gave entire satisfaction. Yago & Beasley warrant all the vehicles made at their establishment to be first-class in every particular.

Judge Wall for Congress.

Cynthiana Democrat.

Judge Garrett S. Wall, of Mason county, is urged by his friends to become a candidate for Congress in the 9th District. Mr. Wall is serving out his second term as judge of the Mason County Court, in which office he has shown himself to be an upright man, a good lawyer and attentive to business. He has a well cultivated mind, has no bad habits, and would make a representative of whom the district would be proud. He is a relative of our former distinguished townsman, Hon. Wm. K. Wall.

Mr. Sterling Demeerat.

We learn that Judge Wall, will be a candidate for congress in the 9th district. He is a native of Mason county, and a worthy son of that great county. Twice have his people honored him with the responsible office of County Judge. He has proven himself equal to the trust. He is a man of fine address, and liberal education, extensive culture, studious habits and blameless life. Bred to the profession of the law, he possesses a trained intellect and a sound well-balanced judgement in business affairs. He has in him all the practical elements of statesmanship. He is in the prime of his years, and, if chosen from among the distinguished aspirants, would shed honor on his district. Mr. Wall is a kinsman of our townsman Lewis Apperson.

Lexington Transcript.

We notice with much pleasure that Judge Garrett S. Wall, of Maysville, is being extensively talked of in the Ninth District as the democratic nominee for congress to succeed Judge Phister. Judge Wall is distinguished alike for his unwavering devotion to the principles of his party, and for the ability with which he has discharged the duties of his official station. A bold but prudent advocate, an untiring worker, safe, strong and cool-headed, he is just the kind of timber Kentucky should send to congress. In addition to his ability and life-long democracy, he would carry with him as representative another attribute, without which even the most gifted public man is poor and weak indeed, and that is integrity. Judge Wall has many friends here who would be glad to learn that the democracy of his district has made him its nominee.

Attention.

The members of the Maysville Guards are requested to be present at their armory to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at 8½ o'clock. Important business to be discussed.

Ho, for the Lewis Court.

The steamer Return which has lately been thoroughly repaired and refitted will leave Maysville, Sunday night, June 11th, for the accommodation of all persons desiring to attend the Lewis circuit court which meets June 12th. This steamer will arrive every morning at Vanceburg, during the session of court, returning at night.

The Congressional Nomination.

Editor of Bulletin: Your correspondent "Citizen," in his article in the daily of June 5th, whilst correct in some of his views, is very unfair and unjust, when he classes our past representatives as "sickly," and "the most that could be said of them was that they are clever fellows." Certainly for four years, our district has been ably represented, and at no time have we been below the average.

True statesmanship does not consist in the ability to orate at length, upon any and all subjects, and at any and all times. The day for stump orators has passed, and the statesman must be a man, endowed with sound practical business sense, and the ability to see the burdens upon the people, and common sense enough to devise the ways and means to remove them. Mere oratory, and the power to discuss the principles of the party, does not make a good representative, but when the ready tongue is backed by a knowledge of practical life, by purity of thought, and sobriety of character, we can have confidence in our representative. Our duty in the coming contest for congressional honors, is to ignore county lines, and looking throughout the district, select a man, who possesses in the highest degree, those qualities of mind, habits of business and purity of life that are so requisite in congress, and resist the temptations that beset a politician.

It matters not, whether such a man be in the Eastern or Western or Central portion of the district, it is the men we want; and when nominated and elected, if he be a true and capable man, keep him in congress from term to term, so long as he remains true and efficient. The cry, "rotation in office" is the grand mistake of Kentucky voters, and is the cause of any lack of influence and reputation that Kentucky congressman may have. In daily life and business, we all concede, that experience alone will make one perfect. In official and political life, we retire a man, just as he becomes fitted, by experience, to discharge with ability his official duties.

If Mason county has a man endowed with the qualifications above set forth, let him be "called," and presented to the District Convention for nomination. If any other county has a better man, let him also be presented, and may the best man win. In selecting, however, we should investigate the character, as well as the capacity; for it would be better to have a "clever fellow," than a "brilliant knave."

Wolves on a Railroad.

A Toledo man, formerly of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, left a good position with a good salary on the Northern Pacific, and returned to Toledo to take the chances of getting smashed up on one of the railroads here, for less money. When pressed for his reasons for coming back, he rather reluctantly told the following tale: He said that as soon as he got his train he started out on his run, and one night at a certain station was side-tracked for a train that was following him. He ordered a brakeman to go to the rear and flag the expected train. The brakeman turned pale and refused, but declined to give a reason. He tried to induce other train men to go, but all refused. He took a lantern and torpedoes himself and went back some hundred paces. He soon heard a patter of feet around him in all directions, and thought he had got into a sheep pen, until suddenly his ears were assailed with a chorus of snarls and howls, and he concluded he must be near a farm house well supplied with dogs, but on raising his lantern, he saw the snow almost black with savage forms whose eyes glared at him like balls of fire. For the first time he realized that he was surrounded by wolves. His hair stood erect and his tongue cleaved to the roof of his mouth. He hastily placed the torpedoes on the track and began to beat a retreat. The howling pack circled round him and he yelled to the engineer to back the train down to him, but his voice was drowned amid the demoniac howling of the gaunt savages which were snapping at his coat tails. He kept them off with his lantern, whirling round like a Dervish, till he reached the train. In a few minutes he heard the torpedoes explode and the howls grew more furious. He said the whole prairie seemed alive with the brutes. He conceived a brilliant idea. He began to toss torpedoes to them, and could hear them explode, and by the sounds judged they were doing good execution. He said he threw out about 2,000 torpedoes, when he got orders to run to the next station. When No. 5, the train following, got to the station he had left, she was thrown off the track by an obstruction. When daylight had arrived about 1,000 dead wolves were found in the cut, all frozen stiff, and it was this that threw No. 5 from the track. "So," said he, "I made my run back, and told the Superintendent I guessed I'd have to get him to excuse me."

The Rights of Others.

If parents would teach their children to respect each other's rights under all circumstances, society would be burdened with few of those men whom we now meet daily, and who deliberately prey upon the folly or weakness of others. There are some children that seem to have no sense of "mine or thine," but borrow at pleasure what they want, appropriate to their own use what belongs to other members of the family, make sharp bargains, cut off the corners in a trade, and consider themselves only "smart" and praiseworthy when they have over-reached or outwitted their fellows. Unfortunately, in many such instances, the parent rejoices rather than mourns that "that child seems to have a faculty of taking care of himself." Let us sketch what seems to us an ideal condition in a family as to the principle of "mine and thine." Each member of the family has his own personal belongings, and these are sacred to him alone. No other member meddles therewith. His treasures are not inspected even or appropriated by any one but himself. If he have a room by himself, that room is safe from intrusion; no locks nor keys are needed to guard him nor his from impudent and officious meddling. Nevertheless, the parents' oversight never fails; and they revise all bargains and agreements made between their children, so that the elder may not take advantage of the younger, or the sharp of the dull, so that each one shall have an "even chance" with the rest. The laws of equity govern parental decisions and secure to each child justice. With such training at home, there is little danger that these young people will develop into over-reaching, avaricious men and women.
